Quiz 1

Subject: English1 English1 16 Jul 26 Total Marks: 50.00 Questions: 42 With Answers

QUESTIONS

Q1 MCQ [2.00 marks]

CONTEXT / PARAGRAPH

Read the following passage and answer the given subquestions. “She said that she would dance with me if I brought her red roses,” cried the young Student; “but in all my garden there is no red rose.” From her nest in the holm-oak tree, the Nightingale heard him, and she looked out through the leaves, and wondered. “No red rose in all my garden!” he cried, and his beautiful eyes filled with tears. “Ah, on what little things does happiness depend! I have read all that the wise men have written, and all the secrets of philosophy are mine, yet for want of a red rose is my life made wretched.” “Here at last is a true lover,” said the Nightingale. “Night after night have I sung of him, though I knew him not; night after night have I told his story to the stars, and now I see him. His hair is dark as the hyacinth-blossom, and his lips are red as the rose of his desire; but passion has made his face like pale ivory, and sorrow has set her seal upon his brow.” “The Prince gives a ball tomorrow night,” murmured the young Student, “and my love will be of the company. If I bring her a red rose, she will dance with me till dawn. If I bring her a red rose, I shall hold her in my arms, and she will lean her head upon my shoulder, and her hand will be clasped in mine. But there is no red rose in my garden, so I shall sit lonely, and she will pass me by. She will have no heed of me, and my heart will break.” “Here indeed is the true lover,” said the Nightingale. “What I sing of, he suffers: what is joy to me, to him is pain. Surely Love is a wonderful thing. It is more precious than emeralds, and dearer than fine opals. Pearls and pomegranates cannot buy it, nor is it set forth in the marketplace. It may not be purchased of the merchants, nor can it be weighed out in the balance for gold.” “The musicians will sit in their gallery,” said the young Student, “and play upon their stringed instruments, and my love will dance to the sound of the harp and the violin. She will dance so lightly that her feet will not touch the floor, and the courtiers in their gay dresses will throng around her. But with me she will not dance, for I have no red rose to give her”; and he flung himself down on the grass, and buried his face in his hands, and wept. Source: The Nightingale and the Rose – Oscar Wilde

Suggest a synonym for the word “wretched”

OPTIONS

A. Miserable ✓ Correct

B. Cheerful

C. Ordinary

D. Nervous

Downloaded by AKSHAT JAIN <25f3005317@ds.study.iitm.ac.in> quizpractice.space

Q2 MCQ [2.00 marks]

CONTEXT / PARAGRAPH

Read the following passage and answer the given subquestions. “She said that she would dance with me if I brought her red roses,” cried the young Student; “but in all my garden there is no red rose.” From her nest in the holm-oak tree, the Nightingale heard him, and she looked out through the leaves, and wondered. “No red rose in all my garden!” he cried, and his beautiful eyes filled with tears. “Ah, on what little things does happiness depend! I have read all that the wise men have written, and all the secrets of philosophy are mine, yet for want of a red rose is my life made wretched.” “Here at last is a true lover,” said the Nightingale. “Night after night have I sung of him, though I knew him not; night after night have I told his story to the stars, and now I see him. His hair is dark as the hyacinth-blossom, and his lips are red as the rose of his desire; but passion has made his face like pale ivory, and sorrow has set her seal upon his brow.” “The Prince gives a ball tomorrow night,” murmured the young Student, “and my love will be of the company. If I bring her a red rose, she will dance with me till dawn. If I bring her a red rose, I shall hold her in my arms, and she will lean her head upon my shoulder, and her hand will be clasped in mine. But there is no red rose in my garden, so I shall sit lonely, and she will pass me by. She will have no heed of me, and my heart will break.” “Here indeed is the true lover,” said the Nightingale. “What I sing of, he suffers: what is joy to me, to him is pain. Surely Love is a wonderful thing. It is more precious than emeralds, and dearer than fine opals. Pearls and pomegranates cannot buy it, nor is it set forth in the marketplace. It may not be purchased of the merchants, nor can it be weighed out in the balance for gold.” “The musicians will sit in their gallery,” said the young Student, “and play upon their stringed instruments, and my love will dance to the sound of the harp and the violin. She will dance so lightly that her feet will not touch the floor, and the courtiers in their gay dresses will throng around her. But with me she will not dance, for I have no red rose to give her”; and he flung himself down on the grass, and buried his face in his hands, and wept. Source: The Nightingale and the Rose – Oscar Wilde

Why is the student unhappy?

OPTIONS

A. He has lost his books

B. He cannot find a red rose ✓ Correct

C. He is too poor

D. He cannot see the play

Downloaded by AKSHAT JAIN <25f3005317@ds.study.iitm.ac.in> quizpractice.space

Q3 MCQ [2.00 marks]

CONTEXT / PARAGRAPH

Read the following passage and answer the given subquestions. “She said that she would dance with me if I brought her red roses,” cried the young Student; “but in all my garden there is no red rose.” From her nest in the holm-oak tree, the Nightingale heard him, and she looked out through the leaves, and wondered. “No red rose in all my garden!” he cried, and his beautiful eyes filled with tears. “Ah, on what little things does happiness depend! I have read all that the wise men have written, and all the secrets of philosophy are mine, yet for want of a red rose is my life made wretched.” “Here at last is a true lover,” said the Nightingale. “Night after night have I sung of him, though I knew him not; night after night have I told his story to the stars, and now I see him. His hair is dark as the hyacinth-blossom, and his lips are red as the rose of his desire; but passion has made his face like pale ivory, and sorrow has set her seal upon his brow.” “The Prince gives a ball tomorrow night,” murmured the young Student, “and my love will be of the company. If I bring her a red rose, she will dance with me till dawn. If I bring her a red rose, I shall hold her in my arms, and she will lean her head upon my shoulder, and her hand will be clasped in mine. But there is no red rose in my garden, so I shall sit lonely, and she will pass me by. She will have no heed of me, and my heart will break.” “Here indeed is the true lover,” said the Nightingale. “What I sing of, he suffers: what is joy to me, to him is pain. Surely Love is a wonderful thing. It is more precious than emeralds, and dearer than fine opals. Pearls and pomegranates cannot buy it, nor is it set forth in the marketplace. It may not be purchased of the merchants, nor can it be weighed out in the balance for gold.” “The musicians will sit in their gallery,” said the young Student, “and play upon their stringed instruments, and my love will dance to the sound of the harp and the violin. She will dance so lightly that her feet will not touch the floor, and the courtiers in their gay dresses will throng around her. But with me she will not dance, for I have no red rose to give her”; and he flung himself down on the grass, and buried his face in his hands, and wept. Source: The Nightingale and the Rose – Oscar Wilde

Where does the nightingale live?

OPTIONS

A. In a rose bush

B. In the palace

C. In a holm oak tree ✓ Correct

D. In the Student’s room

Downloaded by AKSHAT JAIN <25f3005317@ds.study.iitm.ac.in> quizpractice.space

Q4 MCQ [2.00 marks]

CONTEXT / PARAGRAPH

Read the following passage and answer the given subquestions. “She said that she would dance with me if I brought her red roses,” cried the young Student; “but in all my garden there is no red rose.” From her nest in the holm-oak tree, the Nightingale heard him, and she looked out through the leaves, and wondered. “No red rose in all my garden!” he cried, and his beautiful eyes filled with tears. “Ah, on what little things does happiness depend! I have read all that the wise men have written, and all the secrets of philosophy are mine, yet for want of a red rose is my life made wretched.” “Here at last is a true lover,” said the Nightingale. “Night after night have I sung of him, though I knew him not; night after night have I told his story to the stars, and now I see him. His hair is dark as the hyacinth-blossom, and his lips are red as the rose of his desire; but passion has made his face like pale ivory, and sorrow has set her seal upon his brow.” “The Prince gives a ball tomorrow night,” murmured the young Student, “and my love will be of the company. If I bring her a red rose, she will dance with me till dawn. If I bring her a red rose, I shall hold her in my arms, and she will lean her head upon my shoulder, and her hand will be clasped in mine. But there is no red rose in my garden, so I shall sit lonely, and she will pass me by. She will have no heed of me, and my heart will break.” “Here indeed is the true lover,” said the Nightingale. “What I sing of, he suffers: what is joy to me, to him is pain. Surely Love is a wonderful thing. It is more precious than emeralds, and dearer than fine opals. Pearls and pomegranates cannot buy it, nor is it set forth in the marketplace. It may not be purchased of the merchants, nor can it be weighed out in the balance for gold.” “The musicians will sit in their gallery,” said the young Student, “and play upon their stringed instruments, and my love will dance to the sound of the harp and the violin. She will dance so lightly that her feet will not touch the floor, and the courtiers in their gay dresses will throng around her. But with me she will not dance, for I have no red rose to give her”; and he flung himself down on the grass, and buried his face in his hands, and wept. Source: The Nightingale and the Rose – Oscar Wilde

What does the nightingale call the student?

OPTIONS

A. A fool

B. A true Lover ✓ Correct

C. Selfish

D. Dishonest

Downloaded by AKSHAT JAIN <25f3005317@ds.study.iitm.ac.in> quizpractice.space

Q5 MCQ [2.00 marks]

CONTEXT / PARAGRAPH

Read the following passage and answer the given subquestions. “She said that she would dance with me if I brought her red roses,” cried the young Student; “but in all my garden there is no red rose.” From her nest in the holm-oak tree, the Nightingale heard him, and she looked out through the leaves, and wondered. “No red rose in all my garden!” he cried, and his beautiful eyes filled with tears. “Ah, on what little things does happiness depend! I have read all that the wise men have written, and all the secrets of philosophy are mine, yet for want of a red rose is my life made wretched.” “Here at last is a true lover,” said the Nightingale. “Night after night have I sung of him, though I knew him not; night after night have I told his story to the stars, and now I see him. His hair is dark as the hyacinth-blossom, and his lips are red as the rose of his desire; but passion has made his face like pale ivory, and sorrow has set her seal upon his brow.” “The Prince gives a ball tomorrow night,” murmured the young Student, “and my love will be of the company. If I bring her a red rose, she will dance with me till dawn. If I bring her a red rose, I shall hold her in my arms, and she will lean her head upon my shoulder, and her hand will be clasped in mine. But there is no red rose in my garden, so I shall sit lonely, and she will pass me by. She will have no heed of me, and my heart will break.” “Here indeed is the true lover,” said the Nightingale. “What I sing of, he suffers: what is joy to me, to him is pain. Surely Love is a wonderful thing. It is more precious than emeralds, and dearer than fine opals. Pearls and pomegranates cannot buy it, nor is it set forth in the marketplace. It may not be purchased of the merchants, nor can it be weighed out in the balance for gold.” “The musicians will sit in their gallery,” said the young Student, “and play upon their stringed instruments, and my love will dance to the sound of the harp and the violin. She will dance so lightly that her feet will not touch the floor, and the courtiers in their gay dresses will throng around her. But with me she will not dance, for I have no red rose to give her”; and he flung himself down on the grass, and buried his face in his hands, and wept. Source: The Nightingale and the Rose – Oscar Wilde

According to Nightingale, love is:

OPTIONS

A. Easy to buy

B. Less valuable than gold

C. More precious than emeralds ✓ Correct

D. Found only in books

Downloaded by AKSHAT JAIN <25f3005317@ds.study.iitm.ac.in> quizpractice.space

Q6 MCQ [2.00 marks]

CONTEXT / PARAGRAPH

Read the following passage and answer the given subquestions. “She said that she would dance with me if I brought her red roses,” cried the young Student; “but in all my garden there is no red rose.” From her nest in the holm-oak tree, the Nightingale heard him, and she looked out through the leaves, and wondered. “No red rose in all my garden!” he cried, and his beautiful eyes filled with tears. “Ah, on what little things does happiness depend! I have read all that the wise men have written, and all the secrets of philosophy are mine, yet for want of a red rose is my life made wretched.” “Here at last is a true lover,” said the Nightingale. “Night after night have I sung of him, though I knew him not; night after night have I told his story to the stars, and now I see him. His hair is dark as the hyacinth-blossom, and his lips are red as the rose of his desire; but passion has made his face like pale ivory, and sorrow has set her seal upon his brow.” “The Prince gives a ball tomorrow night,” murmured the young Student, “and my love will be of the company. If I bring her a red rose, she will dance with me till dawn. If I bring her a red rose, I shall hold her in my arms, and she will lean her head upon my shoulder, and her hand will be clasped in mine. But there is no red rose in my garden, so I shall sit lonely, and she will pass me by. She will have no heed of me, and my heart will break.” “Here indeed is the true lover,” said the Nightingale. “What I sing of, he suffers: what is joy to me, to him is pain. Surely Love is a wonderful thing. It is more precious than emeralds, and dearer than fine opals. Pearls and pomegranates cannot buy it, nor is it set forth in the marketplace. It may not be purchased of the merchants, nor can it be weighed out in the balance for gold.” “The musicians will sit in their gallery,” said the young Student, “and play upon their stringed instruments, and my love will dance to the sound of the harp and the violin. She will dance so lightly that her feet will not touch the floor, and the courtiers in their gay dresses will throng around her. But with me she will not dance, for I have no red rose to give her”; and he flung himself down on the grass, and buried his face in his hands, and wept. Source: The Nightingale and the Rose – Oscar Wilde

Which word is closest in meaning to “heed”?

OPTIONS

A. Attention ✓ Correct

B. Anger

C. Fear

D. Pride

Downloaded by AKSHAT JAIN <25f3005317@ds.study.iitm.ac.in> quizpractice.space

Q7 MCQ [2.00 marks]

CONTEXT / PARAGRAPH

Read the following passage and answer the given subquestions. “She said that she would dance with me if I brought her red roses,” cried the young Student; “but in all my garden there is no red rose.” From her nest in the holm-oak tree, the Nightingale heard him, and she looked out through the leaves, and wondered. “No red rose in all my garden!” he cried, and his beautiful eyes filled with tears. “Ah, on what little things does happiness depend! I have read all that the wise men have written, and all the secrets of philosophy are mine, yet for want of a red rose is my life made wretched.” “Here at last is a true lover,” said the Nightingale. “Night after night have I sung of him, though I knew him not; night after night have I told his story to the stars, and now I see him. His hair is dark as the hyacinth-blossom, and his lips are red as the rose of his desire; but passion has made his face like pale ivory, and sorrow has set her seal upon his brow.” “The Prince gives a ball tomorrow night,” murmured the young Student, “and my love will be of the company. If I bring her a red rose, she will dance with me till dawn. If I bring her a red rose, I shall hold her in my arms, and she will lean her head upon my shoulder, and her hand will be clasped in mine. But there is no red rose in my garden, so I shall sit lonely, and she will pass me by. She will have no heed of me, and my heart will break.” “Here indeed is the true lover,” said the Nightingale. “What I sing of, he suffers: what is joy to me, to him is pain. Surely Love is a wonderful thing. It is more precious than emeralds, and dearer than fine opals. Pearls and pomegranates cannot buy it, nor is it set forth in the marketplace. It may not be purchased of the merchants, nor can it be weighed out in the balance for gold.” “The musicians will sit in their gallery,” said the young Student, “and play upon their stringed instruments, and my love will dance to the sound of the harp and the violin. She will dance so lightly that her feet will not touch the floor, and the courtiers in their gay dresses will throng around her. But with me she will not dance, for I have no red rose to give her”; and he flung himself down on the grass, and buried his face in his hands, and wept. Source: The Nightingale and the Rose – Oscar Wilde

Which word can be a substitute for "clasped"?

OPTIONS

A. Held ✓ Correct

B. Dropped

C. Threw

D. Opened

Downloaded by AKSHAT JAIN <25f3005317@ds.study.iitm.ac.in> quizpractice.space

Q8 MCQ [2.00 marks]

CONTEXT / PARAGRAPH

Read the following passage and answer the given subquestions. “She said that she would dance with me if I brought her red roses,” cried the young Student; “but in all my garden there is no red rose.” From her nest in the holm-oak tree, the Nightingale heard him, and she looked out through the leaves, and wondered. “No red rose in all my garden!” he cried, and his beautiful eyes filled with tears. “Ah, on what little things does happiness depend! I have read all that the wise men have written, and all the secrets of philosophy are mine, yet for want of a red rose is my life made wretched.” “Here at last is a true lover,” said the Nightingale. “Night after night have I sung of him, though I knew him not; night after night have I told his story to the stars, and now I see him. His hair is dark as the hyacinth-blossom, and his lips are red as the rose of his desire; but passion has made his face like pale ivory, and sorrow has set her seal upon his brow.” “The Prince gives a ball tomorrow night,” murmured the young Student, “and my love will be of the company. If I bring her a red rose, she will dance with me till dawn. If I bring her a red rose, I shall hold her in my arms, and she will lean her head upon my shoulder, and her hand will be clasped in mine. But there is no red rose in my garden, so I shall sit lonely, and she will pass me by. She will have no heed of me, and my heart will break.” “Here indeed is the true lover,” said the Nightingale. “What I sing of, he suffers: what is joy to me, to him is pain. Surely Love is a wonderful thing. It is more precious than emeralds, and dearer than fine opals. Pearls and pomegranates cannot buy it, nor is it set forth in the marketplace. It may not be purchased of the merchants, nor can it be weighed out in the balance for gold.” “The musicians will sit in their gallery,” said the young Student, “and play upon their stringed instruments, and my love will dance to the sound of the harp and the violin. She will dance so lightly that her feet will not touch the floor, and the courtiers in their gay dresses will throng around her. But with me she will not dance, for I have no red rose to give her”; and he flung himself down on the grass, and buried his face in his hands, and wept. Source: The Nightingale and the Rose – Oscar Wilde

What is the meaning of “What I sing of, he suffers”?

OPTIONS

A. The Nightingale dislikes music

B. The Student is a musician

C. The Nightingale is jealous

D. The Student experiences the pain of love ✓ Correct

Downloaded by AKSHAT JAIN <25f3005317@ds.study.iitm.ac.in> quizpractice.space

Q9 MCQ [2.00 marks]

CONTEXT / PARAGRAPH

Read the following passage and answer the given subquestions. “She said that she would dance with me if I brought her red roses,” cried the young Student; “but in all my garden there is no red rose.” From her nest in the holm-oak tree, the Nightingale heard him, and she looked out through the leaves, and wondered. “No red rose in all my garden!” he cried, and his beautiful eyes filled with tears. “Ah, on what little things does happiness depend! I have read all that the wise men have written, and all the secrets of philosophy are mine, yet for want of a red rose is my life made wretched.” “Here at last is a true lover,” said the Nightingale. “Night after night have I sung of him, though I knew him not; night after night have I told his story to the stars, and now I see him. His hair is dark as the hyacinth-blossom, and his lips are red as the rose of his desire; but passion has made his face like pale ivory, and sorrow has set her seal upon his brow.” “The Prince gives a ball tomorrow night,” murmured the young Student, “and my love will be of the company. If I bring her a red rose, she will dance with me till dawn. If I bring her a red rose, I shall hold her in my arms, and she will lean her head upon my shoulder, and her hand will be clasped in mine. But there is no red rose in my garden, so I shall sit lonely, and she will pass me by. She will have no heed of me, and my heart will break.” “Here indeed is the true lover,” said the Nightingale. “What I sing of, he suffers: what is joy to me, to him is pain. Surely Love is a wonderful thing. It is more precious than emeralds, and dearer than fine opals. Pearls and pomegranates cannot buy it, nor is it set forth in the marketplace. It may not be purchased of the merchants, nor can it be weighed out in the balance for gold.” “The musicians will sit in their gallery,” said the young Student, “and play upon their stringed instruments, and my love will dance to the sound of the harp and the violin. She will dance so lightly that her feet will not touch the floor, and the courtiers in their gay dresses will throng around her. But with me she will not dance, for I have no red rose to give her”; and he flung himself down on the grass, and buried his face in his hands, and wept. Source: The Nightingale and the Rose – Oscar Wilde

What is the theme of the passage?

OPTIONS

A. Wealth

B. Nature

C. Love ✓ Correct

D. Friendship

Downloaded by AKSHAT JAIN <25f3005317@ds.study.iitm.ac.in> quizpractice.space

Q10 MCQ [2.00 marks]

CONTEXT / PARAGRAPH

Read the following passage and answer the given subquestions. “She said that she would dance with me if I brought her red roses,” cried the young Student; “but in all my garden there is no red rose.” From her nest in the holm-oak tree, the Nightingale heard him, and she looked out through the leaves, and wondered. “No red rose in all my garden!” he cried, and his beautiful eyes filled with tears. “Ah, on what little things does happiness depend! I have read all that the wise men have written, and all the secrets of philosophy are mine, yet for want of a red rose is my life made wretched.” “Here at last is a true lover,” said the Nightingale. “Night after night have I sung of him, though I knew him not; night after night have I told his story to the stars, and now I see him. His hair is dark as the hyacinth-blossom, and his lips are red as the rose of his desire; but passion has made his face like pale ivory, and sorrow has set her seal upon his brow.” “The Prince gives a ball tomorrow night,” murmured the young Student, “and my love will be of the company. If I bring her a red rose, she will dance with me till dawn. If I bring her a red rose, I shall hold her in my arms, and she will lean her head upon my shoulder, and her hand will be clasped in mine. But there is no red rose in my garden, so I shall sit lonely, and she will pass me by. She will have no heed of me, and my heart will break.” “Here indeed is the true lover,” said the Nightingale. “What I sing of, he suffers: what is joy to me, to him is pain. Surely Love is a wonderful thing. It is more precious than emeralds, and dearer than fine opals. Pearls and pomegranates cannot buy it, nor is it set forth in the marketplace. It may not be purchased of the merchants, nor can it be weighed out in the balance for gold.” “The musicians will sit in their gallery,” said the young Student, “and play upon their stringed instruments, and my love will dance to the sound of the harp and the violin. She will dance so lightly that her feet will not touch the floor, and the courtiers in their gay dresses will throng around her. But with me she will not dance, for I have no red rose to give her”; and he flung himself down on the grass, and buried his face in his hands, and wept. Source: The Nightingale and the Rose – Oscar Wilde

Which simile describes the student’s face?

OPTIONS

A. Red as fire

B. Cold as ice

C. Like pale ivory ✓ Correct

D. Bright as gold

Downloaded by AKSHAT JAIN <25f3005317@ds.study.iitm.ac.in> quizpractice.space

Q11 MCQ [1.00 mark]

Look at the word given below and study the sound that is underlined in it. Choose the option which has the same sound: "Zap"

OPTIONS

A. Bus

B. Business ✓ Correct

C. Boss

D. Swab

Q12 MCQ [1.00 mark]

All the words below share the same vowel sound except:

OPTIONS

A. Pain

B. Main

C. Said ✓ Correct

D. Rain

Q13 MCQ [1.00 mark]

State true or false:The word "extradite" has a CCC consonant cluster in it.

OPTIONS

A. True ✓ Correct

B. False

Q14 MCQ [1.00 mark]

Which semi-vowel does the word "puerile" contain?

OPTIONS

A. /y/ ✓ Correct

B. /w/

Downloaded by AKSHAT JAIN <25f3005317@ds.study.iitm.ac.in> quizpractice.space

Q15 MCQ [1.00 mark]

Pick out the word with a diphthong:

OPTIONS

A. Spew

B. Fleece

C. Ply ✓ Correct

D. Ugly

Q16 MCQ [1.00 mark]

Choose the word with a “th” sound from the following:

OPTIONS

A. Thick

B. Theatre

C. Fought

D. Both Thick and Theatre ✓ Correct

Q17 MCQ [1.00 mark]

Identify the proper noun:

OPTIONS

A. City

B. Teacher

C. School

D. Mumbai ✓ Correct

Q18 MCQ [1.00 mark]

Identify the collective noun:

OPTIONS

A. Flock ✓ Correct

B. Flower

C. Teacher

D. Bird

Downloaded by AKSHAT JAIN <25f3005317@ds.study.iitm.ac.in> quizpractice.space

Q19 MCQ [1.00 mark]

Choose the sentence where an adverb modifies another adverb:

OPTIONS

A. He runs quickly

B. She is extremely intelligent

C. They moved somewhat slowly ✓ Correct

D. The garden is beautiful

Q20 MCQ [1.00 mark]

Identify the adjective type in the sentence:“The soup tastes delicious”

OPTIONS

A. Predicative ✓ Correct

B. Attributive

C. Distributive

D. Demonstrative

Q21 MCQ [1.00 mark]

Substitute the underlined word with a pronoun:“Sarah helped John.”

OPTIONS

A. He

B. She

C. Him ✓ Correct

D. They

Q22 MCQ [1.00 mark]

Choose the correct pronouns:“_____ gave _____ the keys”

OPTIONS

A. Him, I

B. Her, I

C. Me, she

D. She, me ✓ Correct

Downloaded by AKSHAT JAIN <25f3005317@ds.study.iitm.ac.in> quizpractice.space

Q23 MCQ [1.00 mark]

Identify the correct sentence:

OPTIONS

A. She has a talent in painting

B. She has a talent with painting

C. She has a talent at painting

D. She has a talent for painting ✓ Correct

Q24 MCQ [1.00 mark]

Which pair shows opposite meaning?

OPTIONS

A. Beside/next to

B. Under/beneath

C. Before/after ✓ Correct

D. Among/amidst

Q25 MCQ [1.00 mark]

Identify the part of speech of the underlined word: “Wow! I’m so happy for you!”

OPTIONS

A. Interjection ✓ Correct

B. Conjunction

C. Adverb

D. Adjective

Q26 MCQ [1.00 mark]

Identify the part of speech of the underlined word: "Catherine was worried about her work."

OPTIONS

A. Abstract noun

B. Verb ✓ Correct

C. Noun

D. Adverb

Downloaded by AKSHAT JAIN <25f3005317@ds.study.iitm.ac.in> quizpractice.space

Q27 MCQ [1.00 mark]

Choose the correct option: "You_____ help me!"

OPTIONS

A. Should to

B. Have to ✓ Correct

Q28 MCQ [1.00 mark]

State whether the given meaning of the phrase is true or false: "Getting a second wind" Meaning: Having energy again after being tired.

OPTIONS

A. True ✓ Correct

B. False

Q29 MCQ [1.00 mark]

Choose the correct option: The phrase "To build castles in the air" means _____.

OPTIONS

A. To make castles in the sky

B. To create dreams, hopes, or plans that are unrealistic ✓ Correct

Q30 MCQ [1.00 mark]

Fill in the blank with the correct phrasal verb: "The bullies ____ Isaac."

OPTIONS

A. Tucked in

B. Dropped in

C. Picked on ✓ Correct

D. Hit on

Downloaded by AKSHAT JAIN <25f3005317@ds.study.iitm.ac.in> quizpractice.space

Q31 MCQ [1.00 mark]

Spot the sentence with a separable phrasal verb:

OPTIONS

A. I look forward to our next meeting

B. You might not want to bring that incident up at the moment ✓ Correct

C. Do you get along well with your in-laws?

D. I came across an old thatched hut

Q32 MCQ [1.00 mark]

Find the incorrect sentence:

OPTIONS

A. The fair ended and the crowd broke up

B. Not one of his friends stuck up for him

C. The teacher touched the concept on briefly ✓ Correct

D. He has turned into an irrevocable liar, hasn't he?

Q33 MCQ [1.00 mark]

Choose the correct option: "You _____ pay attention to the lecture." (Context: To indicate the requirement of appropriate behaviour in the form of advice or suggestion.)

OPTIONS

A. Might

B. May

C. Should ✓ Correct

D. Can

Q34 MCQ [1.00 mark]

Choose an appropriate prefix that gives the antonym of "apologetic":

OPTIONS

A. Dis-

B. Mis-

C. Un- ✓ Correct

D. Non-

Downloaded by AKSHAT JAIN <25f3005317@ds.study.iitm.ac.in> quizpractice.space

Q35 MCQ [1.00 mark]

Choose the correct option: "Despite facing financial difficulties, they managed to _____their savings for several months."

OPTIONS

A. Live up

B. Live on ✓ Correct

C. Live down

D. Live through

Q36 MCQ [1.00 mark]

CONTEXT / PARAGRAPH

Complete the telephonic conversation given below with the most polite and correct responses. Employee: _____ (1) HR: Yes, Rakesh. Good morning. Employee: Good morning ma'am. Sorry to call you instead of emailing, but this is urgent. HR: _____(2) Employee: _____(3). Something unexpected came up. HR: I see. How many days are you requesting? Employee: Just tomorrow. _____(4) HR: Okay, I'll process it right away. I'll confirm as soon as it's approved. Employee: _____(5) HR: You're welcome. I'll handle it. Take care.

Complete blank (1) with an appropriate response:

OPTIONS

A. I want to apply for a leave

B. Hi, am I talking to the HR representative?

C. Hello, this is Rakesh from the software development team. Am I talking to Ms. Sunitha? ✓ Correct

D. I need to discuss something urgent.

Downloaded by AKSHAT JAIN <25f3005317@ds.study.iitm.ac.in> quizpractice.space

Q37 MCQ [1.00 mark]

CONTEXT / PARAGRAPH

Complete the telephonic conversation given below with the most polite and correct responses.

Employee: _____ (1) HR: Yes, Rakesh. Good morning. Employee: Good morning ma'am. Sorry to call you instead of emailing, but this is urgent. HR: _____(2) Employee: _____(3). Something unexpected came up. HR: I see. How many days are you requesting? Employee: Just tomorrow. _____(4) HR: Okay, I'll process it right away. I'll confirm as soon as it's approved. Employee: _____(5) HR: You're welcome. I'll handle it. Take care.

Complete blank (2) with an appropriate response:

OPTIONS

A. No problem. What's going on? ✓ Correct

B. Call me back later!

C. I am busy right now, just email it to me.

D. This better be important.

Q38 MCQ [1.00 mark]

CONTEXT / PARAGRAPH

Complete the telephonic conversation given below with the most polite and correct responses.

Employee: _____ (1) HR: Yes, Rakesh. Good morning. Employee: Good morning ma'am. Sorry to call you instead of emailing, but this is urgent. HR: _____(2) Employee: _____(3). Something unexpected came up. HR: I see. How many days are you requesting? Employee: Just tomorrow. _____(4) HR: Okay, I'll process it right away. I'll confirm as soon as it's approved. Employee: _____(5) HR: You're welcome. I'll handle it. Take care.

Complete blank (3) with an appropriate response:

OPTIONS

A. I will be taking a leave

B. I need to leave

C. I'm shall not coming in tomorrow.

D. I need to take a leave tomorrow. ✓ Correct

Downloaded by AKSHAT JAIN <25f3005317@ds.study.iitm.ac.in> quizpractice.space

Q39 MCQ [1.00 mark]

CONTEXT / PARAGRAPH

Complete the telephonic conversation given below with the most polite and correct responses.

Employee: _____ (1) HR: Yes, Rakesh. Good morning. Employee: Good morning ma'am. Sorry to call you instead of emailing, but this is urgent. HR: _____(2) Employee: _____(3). Something unexpected came up. HR: I see. How many days are you requesting? Employee: Just tomorrow. _____(4) HR: Okay, I'll process it right away. I'll confirm as soon as it's approved. Employee: _____(5) HR: You're welcome. I'll handle it. Take care.

Complete blank (4) with an appropriate response:

OPTIONS

A. I'll be back the day after ✓ Correct

B. I'll show up the day after, no promises

C. I guess I'll be back the day after

D. I'll be back when I'm done

Q40 MCQ [1.00 mark]

CONTEXT / PARAGRAPH

Complete the telephonic conversation given below with the most polite and correct responses.

Employee: _____ (1) HR: Yes, Rakesh. Good morning. Employee: Good morning ma'am. Sorry to call you instead of emailing, but this is urgent. HR: _____(2) Employee: _____(3). Something unexpected came up. HR: I see. How many days are you requesting? Employee: Just tomorrow. _____(4) HR: Okay, I'll process it right away. I'll confirm as soon as it's approved. Employee: _____(5) HR: You're welcome. I'll handle it. Take care.

Complete blank (5) with an appropriate response

OPTIONS

A. Okay, thanks. Just make it happen fast

B. Thanks, I guess

C. Alright, fine

D. Thank you, I really appreciate it ✓ Correct

This PDF was generated from quizpractice.space

Downloaded by AKSHAT JAIN <25f3005317@ds.study.iitm.ac.in> quizpractice.space